Paul Ego has New Zealand's most recognisable voice, but his massive portfolio and ability to make everyone laugh is pretty cool too. Boasting 20 years on New Zealand radio's More FM and The Rock, Paul Ego is an industry veteran. He was awarded the Billy T award in 2000 for his outstanding comedic talent and continues to delight crowds with his masterful improv and acclaimed wit today.

An innovative industry stalwart, Paul easily moves (and grooves) with the times, lending his charm to productions and making them iconic. Paul's extensive career has seen him as a staple favourite on the hugely popular comedy show 7 Days, as well as the voice of the stickman in the PAK 'nSAVE ads!

Currently, back on the airways where it all started with the MooreFM Breakfast Club with Lana and Adam. Recently, threw it back to his days as frontman for band The Yes Men, performing the 'Playing Mantis' on Kiwi reality singing competition The Masked Singer NZ and continues to nationally tour his stand up on a regular basis. Paul is a highly sought-after MC, and Entertainer. Impressive experience combined with his natural charisma and humour make him the perfect pick for a variety of events. Paul will always engage a crowd, and deliver a polished and entertaining performance.

Testimonials.

Paul and Jaquie were fabulous! I can't believe they don't do more together. They are both so quick and witty that the banter was seamless and any adlib (which we encourage) was well received and very funny. I'd have no hesitation recommending them as an MC duo.

We were thrilled with Paul 's professional performance. He was quickly able to grasp the important points to emphasise in his role and everyone really enjoyed his brand of humour. Paul was responsive to the needs of the audience and suggested appropriate changes to the schedule to suit what was happening at the time. We would not hesitate to recommend Paul as a stellar MC for large events.

Too Many Cooks Fundraiser

The Cancer Society

I had the wonderful opportunity to work with Paul Ego at our recent Queenstown conference in August 2021. Paul was engaged to MC our finale dinner event. He was a surprise component, so none of our guests were aware he was attending our function until we pulled the curtains back.

No task was ever too hard for Paul and he was able to script amusing introductions for each of our speakers as well as ad-lib playful banter with our presenters on the night. The combination of Paul's professionalism, calm nature and quirky sense of humour delivered an outstanding performance on the night. He was the perfect fit for our audience. I would definitely book Paul again for any up coming events. Many thanks again "Pego", for making this such a successful evening.
